HARRIMAN ESTATE APPRAISAL

Wall Street Guesses at Its Value Range from $20,000,000 to $150,000,000

New York, Sept. 30.—Interest in Wall street is directed toward the probable value of the estate of E. H. Harriman, pending the appraisal of his property by the state to fix the amount of inheritance taxes.

Under the legal procedure for transfer of the estate, the will must be filed for probate in the county in which he had his official residence. The estate must also be appraised in the county seat of Orange county.

Upon filing, the judge issues citation or notices, to all relatives or those interested, naming a day for probate. Usually this is within the next ten days or less; if the citations must be published six weeks is the least possible time allowed. Before this set date, any objections on the part of relatives or guardians must be filed with the clerk of the surrogate's court. If there are no objections, the will is offered for probate in the surrogate's court on that day; after that any process against the estate must be by civil suit.

Appraisement, made by state officers in the county in which the will is probated, is generally done within six months, the law allowing 5 per cent. discount if it is finished within that time. The amount of the inheritance tax is 1 per cent. upon the value of the estate; if left to collateral relatives, the tax is assessed at 5 per cent. Harriman's estate is in the 1 per cent. class. Exemptions are made upon estates whose total value is less than $10,000 and upon all bequests to church or charitable institutions.

Estimates of Harriman's private fortune range from $20,000,000 to $150,000,000. Those who believe that the value of his estate has been largely overestimated, point out that Harriman, like others of his associates, at times took tremendous losses as well as profits.

Taft O. K.'s Nomination OF BANNARD FOR MAYOR.
President Thinks That He Is Just the Man to Give New York Great Administration.

New York, Sept. 30.—A message from President Taft expressing the hope that Otto T. Bannard, the republican nominee, will be elected mayor of New York city, was received today by Representative Herbert Parsons, chairman of the New York republican committee. The message came from Salt Lake City and read as follows: "Hon. Herbert Parsons, M. C., New York City:

"I am just in receipt of your despatch advising me that Otto T. Bannard has been nominated for mayor of New York city. I sincerely hope he will be elected, and not only because he is a republican, and not because of any mere party considerations, but because I know he will give to the people of the city of New York such an administration as they have not seen for many a year.

"It is a comfort to be able to bear testimony to his disinterested patriotism, his great administrative ability, his broad-minded common sense, coupled with the highest government ideals. An intimate friendship of 30 years enables me to bear witness to his high character as a man and his peculiar fitness for the responsible and difficult office for which he has been nominated.

"WILLIAM H. TAFT."

True and False Happiness.
True happiness is of a retired nature, and an enemy to pomp and noise; it arises, in the first place, from the enjoyment of one's self; and in the next, from the friendship and conversation of a few select companions. False happiness loves to be in a crowd, and to draw the eyes of the world upon her. She does not receive any satisfaction from the applause which she gives herself, but from the admiration which she raises in others.—Addison.

To Increase Avoidance.
Among many peoples fat is considered a sign of beauty and should this not come naturally artificial means are resorted to. In Egypt the women burn and grind up black beetles and mix them with beef fat, sesame oil and muffs. This mixture is boiled together and a cupful of the liquor taken daily by women desirous of getting fat. In England in the middle ages the ladies used the fat of the lizard when desirous of becoming stout.

Public and Private Duties.
Generally we are under the impression that a man's duties are public, and a woman's private. But this is not altogether so. A man has a personal work or duty relating to his own home, and a public work or duty which is the expansion of the other—relating to the state. So a woman has a personal work and duty relating to her own home, and a public work and duty which is also the expansion of that.—John Ruskin.

Effect of Soil on Grapes.
In the Medoc country of France—famed for its red wine—the growers exercise the most scrupulous care in the selection and application of fertilizers. They understand that, while the vine is hardy, it is exceedingly sensitive and that the quality of the fruit may be injured by a very slight change in the soil.

Simple Recipe for Beauty.
An old book says that if one will make a powder of elder flowers gathered on midsummer day, dry them and use a spoonful thereof in a good draught of water morning and evening for the space of a month it will make him or her young and handsome for a long time.

Lucky Shot for the Hare.
While shooting at Wool, Dorset, a farmer fired at a hare and missed it. The hare made for a hedge and got caught in a wire. The farmer fired again and the shots out the wire. The hare thus freed got away, to the chagrin of the sportsman.—London Evening Standard.

Kisses and Matrimony.
The first stage of matrimony is when a woman kisses her husband to find out if he has been drinking. In the second stage if she does any kissing it is preliminary to asking him for money.—New York Telegram.

Telling the Truth.
"Sometimes," said Uncle Eben, "you feels it yuh duty to tell a friend de truth. But de chances are yuh'll be so disagreeable 'bout it dat he'll git mad an' lose all de benefit."—Washington Star.

The Explanation.
The woman who complained that her husband kept her awake all night neglected to state that she was insanely jealous and that the poor man had a habit of talking in his sleep.

There are 321 postal savings banks in operation in the Philippines, with $404 depositories and $715,000 on deposit. Filipino depositors number 4,801 and Americans 2,278.

What He Would Sacrifice Himself For.
General Frederick D. Grant is a prohibitionist of the extreme type. "If I could by offering my body as a sacrifice free this country from this fell cancer, 'the demon of drink,'" he says, "I'd thank the Almighty for the privilege of doing it. If I had the greatest appointive power in the country, no man would get even the smallest appointment from me unless he showed proof of his absolute teetotalism." Gen. Grant is mentioned with more or less prominence as a prohibition candidate for the presidency. The number of prominent men who do not use wine or stronger alcoholic liquor is increasing. President Taft is another. Exchange.

Cities Are Getting Particular.
The Waterbury American calls attention to the speech of acceptance of Mr. Reeve, the democratic candidate for mayor of that city in which he said: "And as a step toward that economy, I believe that it is necessary that highly specialized statistical records be prepared, showing all of the elements of costs entering into the outlay of each department to produce a given result. Such records will develop units of cost, possible economies, accurate standards of comparison, and expose any element of extravagance or waste." The remarks of men nominated for municipal office these days attract a great deal of attention for the reason that municipal government is undergoing a change and the people are interested in the man with new ideas or with sufficient energy to enforce old ones of value. The system of book-keeping in every city ought to be

Who Supports the Law?
Collector Francis Atwater of Meriden, who has made himself rather unpopular by causing the arrest of various people for non-payment of the military tax, was ignored by the democratic convention, but got a good vote in the republican convention. He will now run as an independent candidate, and thinks he'll be able to win. The mayor of Meriden is Thomas L.

thorough, yet simple, operated so that it may be understood and be free from those superfluous insertions which lead to misunderstandings. Cities are growing more particular in regard to whom they employ, but they have much yet to learn and it is a matter for profound gratification to see the press calling attention to these men who know what to do and promise to do it.—New Britain Herald.
